“Astrology and Spirituality I – Cosmology”
Douglas Staley

The relationship between astrology and the cosmological teachings of the world’s spiritual traditions will be explored in depth and related to our individual birth charts. Topics will include the 4 elements, 3 qualities, the Great Chain of Being, the Ray of Creation, the Enneagram and the Diagram of Everything Living. The purpose of the presentation is to show how each of us is organically related to all levels of reality – elemental, mineral, plant, animal, human, angelic and beyond. By understanding these cosmic realities, we can view our own lives through the lens of a deeper appreciation of our interdependence with all planes of existence and discover the key to revealing, and then directly experiencing, our own unique personal destiny and life purpose.

“The Secondary Progressed Sun: Charting the Development of Your individuality”
Sharon Wyseman

The secondary progressed Sun moves about 1° per year so it is easy to look ahead at the movement it makes by progression into the next sign, and up to 3 (or even 4) subsequent signs and houses. We will also explore the aspects the secondary progressed Sun makes to natal planets, Ascendant, I.C., Descendant and M.C. These mark years to look out for significant growth in attitudes and expressions of individuality in various areas of life. Combining these with the major transits can provide a look at both inner development and outer circumstances for any given year. In the second hour we will look at member charts to see how this is used in practice.

“Astrology and Spirituality II – Psychology”

Douglas Staley

Our birth charts provide a precise map of the nature of our personality, psychological attributes, strengths and challenges, as well as our spiritual gifts and possibilities. By viewing our natal chart from the perspective of the psychological teachings of the world's spiritual traditions, we can gain insight into the workings of our thoughts, emotions, perceptions and intuitions, and then learn how to transform them into vehicles for inner growth and fulfillment. Spiritual teachings provide an enlightened guide to working with the raw materials of earthly existence and refining and purifying them in order to fulfill our purpose in life: to love and nourish all that exists.
